There will be a training session for Lay Readers today shortly after service. This is for all Lay Readers, not just new ones.

Thanks to everyone who baked, bought and prayed for the Apple Fest. As always it is a good event.

Today, while-you-worship, the youth will wash your car. When you pull into the parking lot, the youth will ask you if you'd like a car wash. If so, you will give them your keys. During worship, the adults will drive your car to the washing area when it's your turn, and they will return your car to its spot once it's clean. When you leave church, your car will be all ready for you. The youth are raising money to head to Youth 2011, the United Methodist National Youth Gathering, happening next July.

Mark your calendar for Tuesday, September 28 to be at Crossroads United Methodist Church for guest speaker, Randy Gutenberg, the superintendent of Waunakee schools. He will be speaking on education for Waunakee. This is a community outreach event, so invite your neighbors and anyone interested in education.

Crossroads is assembling a team of walkers for the Madison CROP walk to be held Sunday, October 17. If you're interested in walking with the team or supporting a team member, please contact Rod Grant.
